

Indoor water parks open all winter

by Cheryl Eugenio

I know you feel me when I say this – I am sick of winter. If you need an escape, even just for a little bit, hit these water parks for a splashin' good time. Here are a few nearby indoor water parks open year-round, which is especially nice when you need a last-minute getaway.

Splash Landings in Glenview

This North Shore favorite is popular for good reason; families have so much fun! Little swimmers will adore the air traffic control tower-themed waterslide, plus all the fun interactive water play features. Parents can rest assured knowing that little ones can be safe entering the zero-depth pool. Swimmers can swim 25-yard laps in one of the six lap pool lanes. Adults can relax in the Splash Landings Whirlpool or the warm therapy pool.

Cost: $5 for residents, $6 for non-residents, free for kids ages 23 months and under
